

Mock Test of EM3

1. create different angular components and combine all the component in one page?
2. create an app with form for storing details of students and list out student details from an array and display it. Add the details with form and request and validate the request with postman?
3. Create And express app with different routes and access each route separately with a navbar?
4. create a DB with the collection of students, teacher, principal and defined the relationship?
  - a) List the student who scored grade A+
  - b) List the student under computer department those who are under "teacher name" A
  - c) List the student who failed in the exam.